

children, one of whom is still living in Utah. Mrs. Earl (Blanche) Roberts. After working in a sugar factory in Peshi, Utah, for 26 years, he moved to Heber in 1925 to run a shoe repair business. After the death of his first wife he married Essie Lamb of Farmington, Utah, in 1930. They reared three children while residing in Heber: Mrs. Glenn A. (Carol) McDonald, Mrs. Lynn (Lilaine) Herron, and Mrs. Leland B. (R. Lee) Ivers. He continued his shoe repair business until 1941, when he retired.

JESSE LEVI HIATT

Jesse Levi Hiatt, third son of Vilho and Elizabeth Sarah Hiatt, was born at Willard Idaho, on August 9, 1889. His family moved from Idaho to Vernal, Utah County, Utah, where he spent his childhood days. He attended elementary schools, also the Utah Academy at Vernal. Later he attended Northwestern University at Chicago, where he enrolled in the school of pharmacy. He became a registered pharmacist in Utah during the year 1913.

He married Essie Jayne Rich of Vernal Utah, on March 23, 1911. To this union were born five sons and one daughter. The first child, Ronald Jesse, passed away at the age of four and was buried at Springville, Utah. The other four sons are now living in Heber: Maron R., Berrell R., Ken R., and Jay Lucas. The daughter, Nita, lives in Modesto, California.

In 1917, Mr. Hiatt came to Heber from Springville to manage the Palace Drug Store. This store was owned by Edwin D. Hatch, Emil Kohler, Andrew Murdock, Fred Giles and others. Later he became the owner of this store. In a few years the store building was purchased from the Hatch estate. It was remodeled, new stock and fixtures purchased, and made a modern up-to-date drug store. Then the Hiatt family bought the Arch Davis Barber Shop adjoining on the north. This building was torn down and a new one erected. Western Stores occupied this building until about a year ago, when the Stanley Title & Abstract Co. moved their office into it.

His life centered mostly around the welfare and education of his children. All four sons are registered pharmacists. At present they are serving this community. In 1954 the Hiatt brothers purchased the old Bank Bldg. on West Main Street, where they started a second drug store, known as the Valley Drug, with Kent as manager. These boys, like their father, are generous with their time and devote long hours in serving the people of this community to the best of their ability. Often Mr. Hiatt would be called to the drug store, just after he had retired for the night, to get medicines or other items for sick customers. Seldom did he spend a holiday with his family uninterrupted without a return trip to the drug store, sometimes more than once during the day. His was the lot of a country druggist and one of the fast-departing types of community and character builders. He was one who took pride in the progress and development of this community, and in every way tried to aid in the restoration of better health to its people.

During his 33 years as druggist here he worked closely and cooperatively, with and at different times, the following doctors: Doctors Ray Hatch, W. R. Wherritt, B. A. Dannenberg, T. A. Dannenberg, F. G. Eskelson, E. G. Wright, K. O. Neilson, and Willard Draper.

Mr. Hiatt was a member of the LDS Church, serving in several capacities. He was a High Priest of Heber First Ward. He supported two of his sons, Maron and Jay, on two-year missions for the Church. He was active in civic affairs, was a charter member and a past president of the Heber Lions Club, and served as district governor of the Utah Idaho Lions Clubs in 1939-1940, later becoming a counselor in International Lions Association.

From 1940-44 he was chairman of Wasatch County selective service. He was in charge of a number of Red Cross drives.

He passed away at the age of 59 at Heber on February 1, 1950.

After Mr. Hiatt's death his four sons continued with the business. Maron became manager, and Bub Kent and Jay were helpers. They purchased the other drug store and Kent is the manager there. They now have two splendid drug stores in Heber.
